Program

Try & Share Program

Be among the first to try products made with cultivated meat

The Try & Share Program gives you the opportunity to experience products made with cultivated meat before they reach the market — for both people and pets. You may receive early samples, hear about upcoming product launches, and share your feedback to help shape how these products are developed. By taking part, you contribute real-world insights that support the responsible development of this new field.

Who can join

- People interested in food innovation
- Pet owners
- Veterinarians and animal health professionals
- People who value transparency and sustainability
- Anyone open to sharing feedback

Participation is always voluntary.
Not everyone is selected for every trial.

How it works

1 | Sign up

Join the program and stay connected.

2 | Try

You may be invited to receive and try early product samples.

3 | Observe

Follow simple instructions and try the product in real-life conditions.

4 | Share

Tell us what you noticed. Your feedback helps shape future products.
